About a mile above the city, at Treat's is the first jam of ice, which flows the water back seral feet in height. The next jam is at Eddington, about four miles above the city. This jam flows ater back as high as the top of the dam at the City and the water now stands up to the bed of those and it is thought it is quite impossible they can. Between the City Mills and Lower Stillwater, is sormous jam, he jam, which has flowed the water over the tops of some heures on the banks of the and caused the Bacon mills, supposed the asfest yon the river, to crumble and bend up and flost lamage cannot now be estimated. he Senate have fixed upon Friday, the 3d proximo, the tax vots upon the notice resolutions in relation to Oregen question. Debate upon the question must be then, and we shall be in a measure relieved from anxiety caused by the delay of this important mat. The result of the vote we can anticipate. It is the oral impression that the resolutions of Mr. Colquitt prevail; that a compromise will be recommended, that the President will be requested to continue negations, with that point in view. The resolutions of tions, with that point in view. The resolutions ted in their nature; they would make compromise rative; would oramp negotiations, and place it be-the power of the President to maintain an indepenon in future negotiations. The resolutions of itt arrive at' the same point, in fact; but they ote upon the question in the Senate, if favorable promise, will, without doubt, have a very favoract upon commercial sfairs generally; but it by no removes all the difficulties that surround the It may be some satisfaction to the peace par-ughout the country, to know, that so far as that we body is concerned, no action likely to in-me difficulties in which the two countries alreabeen placed, in relation to the points at issue, made; and as that body stands between the House tives and the Executive, a vote expressing resonatives and the Executive, a vote expressing nion, is a matter of some interest. The Senate occa very important position upon all questions relation our foreign policy. The President is powerless at the consent of the Senate, and this gives a chargo the action of that body, that creates confidence people. The special message of the President mending an increase in the army and navy, and ablishment of additional harbor fortifications, cre. first considerable excitement in commercial cir re, in fact, than a reiteration of the suggestions is his regular message to Congress. It confirms inloss and position taken in that document, and at events have transpired since Congress first ongether, making it more necessary that our means noe should be extensively increased. The most ing and important point in the special message, showing the unofficial and gratuitous exposition President's views in relation to the Oregon questy those who pretended to be his mouth-pieces—resident evidently felt called upon after Mr. Hay speech, to place himself in a proper position be party particularly, and the people generally party particularly, and the people generally a ay with the impression that had become al iversally entertained, that he had changed his upon this important matter. This, more than its necessity for appropriations to place the y in a better state of defence, was doubtless the al object in view, in presenting to the Senate a message, at the time when that body had under of commerce and navigation between the United St and Belgium, recently ratified by the Senate. It pla tends equal facilities to the United States. The treaty is to remain in force ten years, subject to twelve month^a notice after the expiration of that time, from either party

The long and anxiously looked for report from the ommittee of investigation appointed to examine the ffairs of the Reading Railroad Company, has made stocks and bonds of the company, to make an effort to relieve the concern from the embarrassments of a large floating debt, by presenting to them an accurate and detailed statement of its financial condition and its resources, prepared by parties in every way qualified to judge of both, and having no interest whatever in the

The above amount of $201,663 08 includes all the ex penses strictly belonging to the transportation of coal-lt does not, however, include any part of the repairs of the railroad, or of those expenses which are incurred for the general administration of its affairs; these items amount in the aggregate to $99,327 22.

Total cost of transportation of coal $192,724 15. .44.83 cts. expenses properly belonging to the transportation of coal. It excludes repairs of roads and expenses of general administration; these items amounting in the aggregate to $26,646.87. The returns for the eight months ending July 31, 1845, show a reduced expense of nearly three cents per ton on all the coal transported, which fact is sufficient to induce us to believe, that as the facilities of the company increase, the expenses of trans. portation will decréase. As the above tables show the cost of transporting coal, we annex tables showing the receipts from the coal business of the company for the same periods:

This shows a net profit of about fifty cents per ton.

The gross receipts for transporting 851,873 tons, were $825,323 06, averaging nearly one dollar for every ton transported.

The statements made by the Committee of Inv.

, must forever put to rest the charges made against this company by its opponents, that the gross amount charged for carrying coal was less than the actual cost; conveying the idea that the larger the quantity of coal sported, the more injurious it was for the company

FATHER RITCHIE VOTED DOWN.—Father Ritchie, through the organ, having lately read to the Senate a reprimand against adjourning over on Thursday, and certain Senators regarding Father Ritchie rather as Printer to the Senate than as dictator, voted an adjournment over from yesterday, under the ayes and noes. We are told that a Senator from the South, of the church, but who has no idea that Father Ritchie shall become the shepherd's dog over the flock, being absent, but having requested to be sent for in case of a vote to adjourn over, came in upon the call, and demanded the ayes and noes, in order to place a rebuke upon the record against the interference of the Executive editor in the action of the Senate. The fact is, Father Ritchie must rather follow the action of Congress than expect to dictate to it. The power of the administration, limited to three years, and being of an unequivocally passive character, is not able to command, through Father Ritchie, the action even of the House; how much less, then, the conduct of the Senate, upon the individual authority of our dear old pap-pah!

GEN. THOMAS J. RUSK, SENATOR FROM TEXAS.—General Rusk, the associate Senator of Gen. Sam. Houston, from the new State of Texas, is one of the very finest looking men in the Senate. He stands full six feet, strong, sinewy frame, well proportioned, and perpendicular. He is about forty-five years of age. He is South Carolinian by birth and education. He studied law in that State, and in 1824 removed to Georgia, where, in the course of a ten years' residence, in practice—the practice of the law—he married. In 1834, he removed to Nacogdoches, in Texas (the Red River country) where he resumed the practice of his profession. In the formation of the provisional government of Texas, in December, 1835, of which David G. Burnet was appointed President, General Rusk was chosen Secretary of W in bunches, wreaths, sprige, garlands, &c &c., together with a most extensive as comment of MATERIALS FOR ARI IFICIAL FLOWER MAKERS. embracing a variety unsurpassed in richness, and extent by many other importation.
